

Honoring California's Social Work Leaders and Innovators

Nomination Information and Instructions

The California Social Work Hall of Distinction committee invites you to submit a nomination to recognize an individual whose body of work made outstanding contributions to the advancement of the social work profession and/or social work practice in California and bettered the lives of Californians.

Fundamental expectations of all Hall of Distinction nominees are that they have earned an advanced degree in social work and have demonstrated support of social work values and the NASW Code of Ethics.

NOMINATION AND SELECTION PROCESS

- Nominations are accepted at any time, but must be submitted by January 15 to be considered for the current year. Note that, generally, in odd years inductees are selected from northern California; in even years, they are from southern California (see below).
- Submit attached cover sheet with additional pages, such as: a resume or CV, supplementary narrative, biographical and/or background information, letters of support (limit of 3), and photo, if available.
- You may complete and submit the nomination form and supporting materials online, link available on the Hall of Distinction website <https://socialworkhallofdistinction.org/nominations> (preferred method), or email completed materials to cswa@usc.edu or mail to:

CSWA Operations Center
8484 Wilshire Blvd, Suite 515
Los Angeles, CA 90211

- Please consider the guidelines for selection listed below in your submission.
- Current Hall of Distinction Committee members are not eligible for induction.
<http://socialworkhallofdistinction.usc.edu/committee-members/>
- The induction class is announced in the spring in NASW-CA News.
- If a nominee is not selected for the current year's induction class, submitted materials are held over for automatic review, for one year. Nominators are notified of the committee's decision and are invited to supplement and update the nomination submission in between selection cycles.

GUIDELINES FOR SELECTION

The Hall of Distinction induction event coincides with the NASW-CA Annual Conference, which alternates between northern and southern California venues. Honorees are generally selected from the geographic region where the induction ceremony will be held in order to facilitate the attendance of inductees and their guests.

Those selected for induction are:

- original founders of the profession by virtue of developing standards or programs
- those who made an extraordinary contribution to professional development, and
- those who, by exemplary practice, served as role models for other social workers.

Selection is based on evidence provided that the nominee has contributed to the social work profession in any of the following ways:

- Exceptional leadership in social work practice and education, research, or social policy in California.
- Risk-taking to achieve outstanding results in social policies or programs, particularly during controversial historical periods.
- Effective advocacy against potentially harmful social policies on behalf of clients and communities, and in extending social programs to underserved populations.
- Extraordinary contributions to social work practice or application of techniques.
- Initiating innovative research or programs producing positive, tangible results over a period of time.
